

Marco Matthew Lowe

Education

HARVARD UNIVERSITY, John F. Kennedy School of Government, Cambridge, MA
Master in Public Administration, June 2007

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON, College of Arts & Sciences, Seattle, WA
Bachelor of Arts in History, 1995

Professional Work Experience

Director

Seattle Steam Company
2014

- New Business Development
- Corporate Branding
- Marketing

Director

City of Seattle Office of Intergovernmental Relations
2010-2014

- Work with City Council and Mayor to develop and implement Seattle's intergovernmental agenda from the federal to local levels
- Lead city's intergovernmental staff and contractors in three offices

Chief of Staff

New York City Department of Small Business Services, New York, NY
2009

- Part of leadership team that oversaw a 300 person staff across four divisions and implemented the agency's $200 million budget
- Directed Communications Division and media plan implementation
- Managed the Human Resources Department

Director of Community Development

Triad Development, Seattle, Washington
2007-2008

- Joined Triad Development's Civic Square project, a $500 million, full block development of formally city owned property converting into a mixed use office tower, retail market, and public plaza

Director of Community Relations

Seattle Mayor's Office, Seattle, Washington
2002-2006

- Developed and implemented a comprehensive communication and community affairs strategic plan for Mayor Nickels' public outreach both for the transition team and the Mayor's Office
- Managed outreach, commission, and constituent service staff