

13th Annual
GIVING VOICE TO EXPERIENCE CONFERENCE

Saturday, June 25, 2022
8:30 am - 5:30pm
Oberto Commons-Sinegal 200, Seattle University

THEME: "Maintaining a Soulful Approach to Psychological Research and Practice: Swimming Upstream in a Technological Society"

For more than a decade, this one-day conference has focused on how qualitative research informs psychotherapy and provides us with a deeper understanding of our shared human existence. This year Dr. David Kopacz, VA psychiatrist and author of books dealing with topics such as re-humanizing medicine and healing trauma, will speak on "Burnout: Soul Loss and Soul Recovery in Mental Health Care."

While some timeslots have been filled with presenters from the canceled 2020 conference, there are still some slots available.*

Submission of abstracts on qualitative research must be received by May 25, 2022.

Conference registration deadline is June 15, 2022.

FEES

Professionals (incl. 6 CEUS): $60

Graduate Students: $20
